

All-Wool Pants
MADE TO ORDER
FOR $3.50 CASH.
M. E. FOHS, The Tailor.

The Crittenden Press.

M. E. FOHS,
Merchant Tailor
MARION, KY.
Receives new goods every day. Suits made to order $15.00 and upwards.
All-wool pants made to order $3.50.

VOLUME 16.

MARION, CRITTENDEN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, SEPTEMBER, 5 1895.

NUMBER 13

That Unspeakable Felony.

[C. Virginia Commonwealth.]
"That Unspeakable Felony" are the words the Commonwealth but of Henry Watterson, applied by him to the demonization of silver.
The Commonwealth has turned to the Democratic party some most elegant arguments in favor of the demonization of silver through the extracts it has published from the Louisville Times; but elegant though they were and are, convincing to the fullest degree though they were and are; they fall short in strength and earnestness when the argument of Henry Watterson in the Courier-Journal is considered.

Starting out to prove that the single gold standard was a universal instrument of enslavement, Mr. Watterson happily draws illustrations from the domain of commercial transactions, from the tonnage of railroads, and from the labor of slaves. But to attempt to give a synopsis of the brilliant methods combined with the closest reasoning of Mr. Watterson, would be unfair to him, and is a task from which the Commonwealth shrinks. Let Watterson speak for himself:

"While the tonnage of the railroads and steamships of the world which carries the bulk of the world's commerce has increased about one hundred per cent. in ten years," says Mr. Watterson, "the depletion of the gold reserve, which both measures and carries the value of that bulk, is measured by the fact that the annual supply of gold was more than sixty per cent. thirty-five years ago, than it is at the present day. The annual gold increment of the world was more than sixty per cent. larger in 1860 than the metallic reserve supporting commerce was composed of two metallic standards, and at a time when the mass or bulk of merchandise and production was but a fraction of what it is now."

"These facts," says Mr. Watterson, "demonstrate in a crystalline light that the single gold standard is a universal instrument of enslavement."

"Instrument of enslavement" is admirable. But let Henry Watterson speak further for himself, especially having challenged the world to produce from the columns of the Courier-Journal one line or word inconsistent with its present utterances. Mr. Watterson continues, and in the C. J., too:

"Since the unspeakable felony of the single gold standard was instituted in 1871-5 in all the Western Hemisphere, it has got all agricultural products about half way to the plan of absolute slavery, as they are selling nearly half as much more of their produce for a given sum of gold money today as in 1873. It will not be necessary for their gold masters to take all the other half to reduce producers to the basis of slavery, as the other half includes the cost of the keep of the slave and the draught horse which the master always has to find."

Then Mr. Watterson issues his challenge:

"There is not today in all of the world," says he, "a writer on the side of the single gold standard felony who would hazard his reputation as an honest man by asserting that the universal price contraction of this era is not the work of the gold standard. That admission therefore means exactly this, the gold standard is a universal and all powerful instrument for the enslavement of production to capital."

"We risk nothing," continues Mr. Watterson, "in challenging any monometalist to deny that depression was and is the direct, legitimate result of monometalism. The Machiavelli who fathered the felony, John Sherman, himself admits it."

But why continue the arguments and statements of Mr. Watterson. Has not enough been given to silence, forever, the Democrats who would refuse support to Hardin and the whole ticket?

More than that, and above any ticket, has not enough been quoted to show through the words of Mr. Watterson, the unspeakable villainy, felony he calls it, of the act of 1873 demonizing silver and enslaving production to capital?

One more extract from his editorials on the subject may, however, be not amiss.

Speaking directly of the results to follow the complete demonization of silver he says:

"As far as they have gone in degrading it, its peremptory cancellation would undoubtedly produce a collapse of panic. The restoration of its ancient rights would, conversely, cause universal expansion and buoyancy."

What now can the Times say, or the Post, or Messrs. Barnett and Long, and the rest of them?

The cast of Watterson's javelin is fatal to the advocates of the unspeakable felony or the single gold standard.

What the Platform Means.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]
The Democratic State Convention which met at Louisville and nominated Gen. Harlin for Governor, adopted without change the money plank adopted by the National Democratic Convention of 1892, which was as follows:

"We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discrimination against either metal or charge for mintage; but the dollar unit of coinage of both metals must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value, or be adjusted through international agreement, or by such safe mode of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts; and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin."

Gen. Harlin claims that this plank that this plank means bimetalism. The "sound money" papers and speakers are denouncing him for placing that interpretation upon it.

The editor of the Post-Dispatch is in a position to throw some light upon this question. He was Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions at the National Convention and was also chairman of the sub-committee that framed the platform subsequently ratified by the general committee and by the convention. He participated in all the discussions on the platform and knows what it was declared to mean by those who framed and adopted it.

The money or coinage plank was debated for seven hours before an agreement was reached upon it in its present form. Mr. Patterson of Colorado and Senator Daniel of Virginia, members of the sub-committee, spoke and voted against it to the end, because, as they claimed, it was susceptible of being interpreted as hostile to bimetalism, and the equal rights of silver as a money metal. The advocates of the plank as it stands, of whom Senators Vilas and McPherson were the leaders, denied this, and declared over and over again that it meant genuine bimetalism, and was in accord with previous Democratic declarations on this subject.

Had its advocates or any of them announced then that it could or would be interpreted to mean gold monometalism, it could not have been adopted by the sub-committee or the general committee, or ratified by the convention. If Mr. Cleveland had announced in his letter of acceptance that he interpreted it to mean gold monometalism, he would not have received 100 votes in the Electoral College.

Gen. Harlin's interpretation of the plank is the one avowedly held at the time by its framers. The claim that it means gold monometalism was never heard of until the last six months, and was invented to meet the exigencies of an Administration determined to repudiate the platform and afraid to do so openly.

In a recent letter to the manufacturers Mr. W. F. Benjamin, editor of the Spectator, Rushford, N. Y., says: "It may be a pleasure to you to know the high esteem in which Chamberlain's medicines are held by the people of your own State, where they must be best known. An aunt of mine, who resides at Dexter, Iowa, was about to visit me a few years ago, and before leaving home wrote me, asking if they were sold here, stating if they were not she would bring a quantity with her, as she did not like to be without them." The medicines referred to are Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cure of coughs and colds, Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, lame back, pains in the side and chest, and Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy, for bowel complaints. These medicines have been in constant use in Iowa for almost a quarter of a century.

The people have learned that they are articles of great worth and merit, and unequalled by any other. They are for sale here by Orme Bros., druggists.

From all accounts Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a godsend to the afflicted. There is no advertisement about this, we feel just like saying it.—The Democrat, Carrollton, Ky. For sale by Orme Bros., druggists.

THAT ADDRESS.

The Committee Pleads for Harmony and The Ticket.

In obedience to the resolution recently adopted by the State Central Committee the undersigned earnestly appeal to the patriotism, loyalty and devotion of the Democratic party in the interest of good government and the prosperity and welfare of the people of Kentucky, to give their united and hearty support to the ticket and platform made by the party at the June convention held in this city.

"Whatever opinions you may hold as to economic questions, whatever differences there may exist relative thereto, we earnestly and sincerely ask you to lay them on the altar of the party, for its safety and success, and unite in our great effort to defeat the Republican party and its nominees."

"Certainly no true Democrat desires the election of the Republican ticket, and the defeat of the Democratic ticket."

"We should wisely bear in mind that in the past our sister States of the South were subjected to a bitter and degrading experience and a loss of good government, prestige, prosperity and wealth, under Republican control of their State and local government affairs, and relief came only through the Democratic party coming into power. It is a well known significant fact that Northern men, or Republicans, moving into or locating in the Southern States soon awakened to the fact and necessity, in their own interests, of voting with the Democratic party for control of the State and local affairs as a guarantee of good government, as against the Republican party and bad government."

"The good people of Kentucky surely do not want to try the folly and dangerous experiment of turning over the State and local affairs to the Republican party, nearly one half of which is composed of the negro vote. The present peaceful and social conditions of the State demand at your hands the election of the Democratic nominees. The election of the Republican ticket and surrender of control of our State government to the control of the Republican party, means a radical change in our social and public educational conditions that will bring trouble and evil to our people. The administration of the affairs of State by the Democratic party commends itself to all good citizens, and is a potent reason why the Republican party should not come into power with its known methods and policies based upon its history as a party."

"The people of Kentucky are more interested in an honest and properly administered State government, as given and guaranteed by the Democratic party, than in any other question affecting the campaign, especially when this one disturbing question must be fought out and settled upon national ground."

"We plead for harmony, charity, and forbearance under the broadness of thought and utterance, in a spirit of conciliation, on the part of the Democratic press of the State, and of every Democratic voter throughout the State, for their united action and support of the entire ticket and platform. Let us with one mind, one heart, spirit and purpose, labor for the defeat of the Republican party, and its ticket, by a majority so pronounced that Kentucky will become more firmly settled than ever in the Democratic column. Kentucky is the home of a contented, peaceful people; especially as to our social and educational conditions, we must remember that the public schools of our State should be sacredly guarded and protected from race mixture or race disturbance."

"The supreme question, fellow Democrats, that confronts us is: Shall the Democratic party or the Republican party control the governmental affairs of Kentucky. You must answer this question at the polls in November next. We have abiding faith in your wisdom and good sense, and believe you will roll up the old time decisive majority for our nominees, the whole ticket, and that there will be no laggards or sulkers on the day of election."

CHAS. R. LONG,
Chairman, State at Large.
JNO. B. CASTLEMAN,
State at Large.
W. B. GATLIN, First District.
URNEY WOODSON, Second District.
JAMES C. SIMS, Third District.
GUS W. RICHARDSON, Fourth District.
W. O. HEAD, Fifth District.
JNO. T. HODGE, Sixth District.
H. B. BECK, Seventh District.
SAM FROWN, Eighth District.
HANSON KENNEDY, Ninth District.
H. P. THOMPSON, Tenth District.
JAMES GARNETT, JR., Eleventh District.

TEXAS LETTER.

GAINESVILLE, TEX.,
Aug. 22, 1895.
ED. PRESS: Six weeks ago, on Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock, we took the train at Chicago, over the Santa Fe for Texas, and 36 hours later we took breakfast in Gainesville, leaving Chicago late in the afternoon. We passed through the greater portion of Illinois during the night. One of the greatest improvements that we noticed on our journey, and indeed one of the greatest and most expensive works any State or city ever undertook, is the digging of the Chicago canal, which is to be used as a navigable river, connecting lake Michigan with the Mississippi river above St. Louis.

Of course the canal does not extend the entire distance from Chicago to the Mississippi; it connects with Chicago river and the river with the Mississippi.

The canal will cost when completed $3,000,000 and is being dug by the city of Chicago alone. The main object is to furnish a sewerage system to the city, but it will also be used as a navigable stream, being dug large enough for the largest vessels that navigate lake Michigan. 15,000 men are at work on the works now, and it is the aim of the company to have the canal open in one more year.

Leaving Illinois we crossed the Mississippi into Iowa at Ft. Madison. Iowa is one of the great grain States of the west, and has a most delightful climate.

The Santa Fe runs through some fine country in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory as is to be found anywhere.

We were greatly astonished at the settlement and development of Oklahoma, more especially the country last opened to settlement, known as the Cherokee Strip. The claims have been improved and fine crops were to be seen all through the Territory. Perry, the capital of the strip, a town not yet a year and a half old, claims ten thousand people, and there are numerous towns all along the railroad with good school houses and churches. Oklahoma City and Guthrie are growing cities and show the thrifty, progressive spirit of the "boomers" who went into that country when there was nothing under the sun there save the boundless plains, and within five years the country has been improved until fine farms and nice dwellings can be seen as far as the eye can see.

Last summer we passed through the same portion of Kansas and Indian Territory, and where we saw thousands upon thousands of acres in corn that would not make enough to fatten a goose, the same country this year will make from 50 to 75 bushels of corn to the acre.

We did not notice an inferior corn crop from Chicago to Texas, although there is a portion of Oklahoma—in the extreme western part—where there will be nothing made. It has been dry there ever since the Territory was opened for settlement. Many of the settlers are leaving their claims now and moving into Texas.

Texas has perhaps the finest crops now she has had since she severed her connection with Mexico. Wheat was a poor crop, but everything else will make an over supply. Corn is now being harvested, and 15 to 20 cents will be the top price for corn. Cotton is now beginning to open and farmers are promised a much better price for their cotton this year than they got last year. The melon and fruit crops are immense. We think we never saw peaches as fine as they are here this year.

We ate watermelons until the Doctor breathed into our ear that enough of anything is enough, so after settling with our physician we concluded that if we did not wish to leave this mundane sphere we had better cease to eat watermelons, so we swore off and have not had a watermelon for three hours.

Texas has had an abundance of rain this year; portions of the State that were so dry when we were here last summer that farmers had to seek their hogs in the creek to make them hold sleep, now have branches of running water.

The weather has been very warm since we came; the nights are getting cool and pleasant now. When we were very cold; overcoats could have been in use of evenings and some had fire in their rooms. When we reached Texas and found the mercury at 100 it seemed quite different. But we have a pleasant breeze here during the day and when it gets cool enough at night to keep the mosquitoes quiet, then we will fare sumptuously every way.

While the country has been blessed with an abundance of everything necessary to man's temporal wants, the people of Gainesville and Cook county are enjoying one of the greatest spiritual blessings that ever visited North Texas. The Baptists and Methodists have united, and are doing a big business in a tabernacle, on the old fashion style, only known to Southern people. Indeed they preach the old fashion gospel, sing old time songs and are getting the "old time religion" at the old fashioned mourners' bench. Six hundred souls have been converted and it seems as though the meeting had but barely begun.

We have arranged to spend the winter in the school room. Texas has perhaps the most difficult common school course of any State in the Union. How would the teachers of Crittenden county appreciate an examination as difficult as those they have had, with 19 branches in the course? In Texas we have the branches that Kentucky has, with Texas History, Physical Geography, Philosophy, Algebra, Geometry, Psychology, both mental and moral Science, a grade of 85 per cent. is required with no grade below 65 per cent. on any subject.

With many wishes for the Press, and the continued happiness of my Kentucky friends,

I am, very respectfully,
F. J. CLEMENT.

EARTH QUAKES DAILY.

A Mexican Town Shaken Every Twenty-Four Hours.

City of Mexico, Aug. 27.—Scientists are greatly interested in the phenomena occurring at the town of Pienzo, State of Oaxaca, where since November 2 of last year, not a day has passed without earthquake shocks. People have abandoned their stone houses and are living in huts made of wood and matting. Great alarm prevails, for each daily shock is preceded by ominous roarings under the sea, which is only twelve miles distant. There is observable at various points in Southern Mexico much seismic activity, and the subterranean roaring at Tehuacan, State of Puebla, and recurring shocks of earthquake, render it credible that another volcano is forming.

COLORS DEBATORS.

A Democrat and a Republican Cross Lances at Princeton.

[From the Banner.]

R. W. Christian, the colored Democratic speaker and vice president of the Negro Democratic League of the U. S., arrived in the city last Monday and made arrangements for a speech at the court house Tuesday night. On Tuesday morning he issued a challenge to Rev. O. Durrett or any other colored Republican to meet him in joint debate. The challenge was accepted and at the appointed hour the house was packed, fully half of the crowd being white people. Christian opened the debate and made one of the best speeches that has been heard here in recent years. He quoted history by the yard and appealed to the negroes from a common sense standpoint to emerge from the political slavery that has held them in chains as strong as those of the physical slavery from which they were freed thirty years ago. He thought it a reproach to the race that a man could look at a group of colored men and count them as so many votes for the Republican party, like a gang of sheep. His speech was exceedingly well delivered, and was full of strong points; which were very liberally applauded, many of them by the colored men.

Rev. Durrett made a good speech from his standpoint, though he did not attempt to meet a single point made on the other side. He rested his case on ridicule, wit, humor and anecdote. His side of the house resounded with remarks with vociferous signs of approbation. He held his own fairly well, though he is not a match for his antagonist, who is an experienced debater, a polished speaker, and possessed of a wide range of information.

After the speaking was over Durrett challenged Durrett to meet him in debate at Mayfield in September, and the challenge was promptly accepted.

The debate has been one of the principal topics of conversation since it occurred. The Republicans are worried over it to a considerable degree, as their hold on the colored element was considerably weakened and they find it necessary to go to work at once to counteract the influence of the meeting.

Doctors Say;
Bilious and Intermittent Fevers which prevail in miasmatic districts are invariably accompanied by derangements of the Stomach Liver and Bowels.
The Secret of Health.
The liver is the great "driving wheel" in the mechanism of man, and when it is out of order, the whole system becomes deranged and disease is the result.
Tutt's Liver Pills
Cure all Liver Troubles.

LEFT HIS WIFE.

Robert Dobbins, a Prominent Lyon County Farmer, Goes Astray.

Mrs. Maryland Dobbins, of Lyon county, is desirous of learning the whereabouts of her husband, Robert Dobbins; who left his home in Lyon county on Wednesday of last week. He is about 45 years old, weighs about 190, over 6 feet high, dark skin, black hair and mustache and dark grey eyes. He was at Eddyville serving on a jury and in the afternoon got on a train going east. Since that time he has not been heard of. Mrs. Dobbins says he took with him between $800 and $900, the savings of several years.—Princeton Banner.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the Spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails; when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and purgative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Only fifty cents per bottle at Woods & Wilson's drug store.

An Early Autumn Magazine.

"Compulsion in Child Training" is the subject which the Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, D. D., discusses wisely and well in the September Ladies' Home Journal. His article is ably supplemented by Edward W. Bok's excellent editorial on "Our Schools and Our Teachers." "The Woman Who Paints Cats" is the striking title of a full page devoted to Madame Henriette Ronner, the celebrated cat painter; several copies of her most celebrated pictures being given. "The Men Who Write Our Comic Operas" are represented by portraits and sketches of "The Composer of Wang," "The Composer of Robin Hood," "The Composer of Princess Bonnie." Graceful in theme and melodious in construction is Mr. Robert Coverley's song, "Love's Reflections," written exclusively for this issue of the Journal. Grace Greenwood writes of "The Man Who Most Influenced Me," Amelia E. Barr of "Conversation at the dinner Table," and Frank R. Stockton's "Love Before Breakfast" comes to a happy conclusion. Mrs. Mallon's "The Early Winter Bonnets" and "Silk and Woolen Bodices" are daintily illustrated by Abby E. Underwood, as are "Party Dresses for Children," by W. Granville Smith, and "The Early Autumn Coats," by Frank O. Small. Women who love dainty needlework will be delighted with Helen M. Adams' "Greek Embroidery Designs" and Mrs. Barnes Bruce's "A Bridal Table Set." This autumn's brides will find much practical advice in Mrs. Hamilton Mott's up-to-date article on "This Autumn's Wedding Etiquette." J. Harry Adams writes of "Some Artistic Doorways" and several bright women give some charming ideas for "Beautifying the Home." Eben E. Rexford writes of "Cultivating the Lily" and Emma M. Hooper of "Dressing the Young Girl." Altogether this attractive issue, which goes out with a cover especially designed by Mr. C. D. Gibson, is worth ten times its price of ten cents. The Ladies Home Journal is published by The Curtis Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, for ten cents per number and one dollar per year.

Sent to His Mother in Germany.

Mr. Jacob Ebbensen, who is in the employ of the Chicago Lumber Co., at Des Moines, Iowa, says: "I have just sent some medicine back to my mother in the old country, that I know from personal use to be the best medicine in the world for rheumatism having used it in my family for several years. It is called Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It always does the work. 50c bottles for sale by Orme Bros., druggists."

School Books and Drugs.

We have every kind of school book used in the public schools, and we are going to sell them to you at the very lowest figures.

WE HAVE

Pens and pencils of all kinds. Slates, all sizes. Paper of every grade and kind. Tablets, all sizes and kinds. Chalk. Erasers. Inks, all kinds. Rules. Slate Pencils.

Everything Needed In the School Room

But the rod, and we are using all these we can get to whip out high prices and poor grades of goods.

200 Page Tablet For 4 cts AND A FOOT RULE THROWN IN.

WE ALSO CARRY A BIG STOCK OF

Pure and Fresh Drugs

The best purchasable, and for filling prescriptions accurately and promptly we are equal to any and better than many.

We carry a stock of Paints, Oils and Varnishes. Paint Brushes, Wall Papers, Musical Instruments, etc.

Woods & Wilson, CLARK BUILDING. MARION, KY.

DR. R. L. MOORE THOS. J. YANDELL

INSURANCE

Represent some of the best companies in the country, OLD NORTH AMERICA, TRADERS, PENNSYLVANIA and others.

PROTECT YOURSELF AGAINST FIRE!

By placing your risks with these first class companies, and reliable agents. Call and get rates.

WALKER'S LIST

Farms for Sale.

No. 1.—33½ acres 1½ miles west of Marion. House of four rooms. A splendid little home.
No. 2.—12 acres 1 mile from the courthouse. Small cottage residence. A beautiful situation.
No. 3.—18 acres adjoining town, and in the growing part of Marion. Some splendid building sites.
No. 4.—4½ acres in east Marion, house of four rooms. A splendid place for a garden farmer.
No. 5.—180 acres, 150 in cultivation, balance in good timber. All limestone soil. House of 6 rooms, good stock and tobacco barns, tenant house, orchard of 150 trees. Plenty water.
No. 6.—320 acres, 240 in cultivation, balance in good timber, house of 6 rooms. Two tenant houses. 14 acres of good orchard of apples, peaches, pears, plums and cherries. Good barns. Plenty water.
No. 7.—81 acres, 65 in cultivation, balance in good timber; 12 acres of good meadow. New house of two rooms. New stock barn, 3 acre orchard. Price very low for cash.
No. 8.—120 acres, 100 in cultivation. House of 5 rooms. Good barns and wheat house, 4 acres of orchard. Plenty stock water. It is a bargain.
No. 9.—188 acres limestone soil, 160 in cultivation, 99 acres in wheat, 4 acres in orchard, 2 good tobacco barns, on public road, two miles from railroad.
No. 10.—185 acres limestone soil, 250 in cultivation, 8 room dwelling, tenant houses, 2 good barns.
No. 11.—100 acres, 90 in good state of cultivation, dwelling of 4 rooms. Good orchard, good stables and tobacco barns.
No. 12.—200 acres, 125 Ohio river bottom. Good residence and outbuildings and fine barn.
No. 13.—103 acres, 70 acres in cultivation, balance in good timber. Four room residence, good outbuildings. 103 apple trees, 300 peach trees and 30 cherry trees, all bearing.
No. 14.—270 acres, 200 in cultivation, balance in good timber. House of 5 rooms, 8 acres of orchard fine stock and tobacco barns.
No. 15.—30 acres known as the McCollum land on Hoods creek. A fine vein of coal, about 35 acres in splendid tile and stave timber, rest cleared land.
No. 16.—About 130 acres, 75 cleared and in good state of cultivation. Small house, good barn, one tenant house, plenty of good water. Three miles from Marion.
No. 17.—150 acres, 110 cleared, 40 in good timber, house of four rooms, good barn, orchard and water. A good farm.
No. 18.—135 acres, 60 cleared, balance in good timber. Good house and barns, on the Cumberland river.
No. 19.—284 acres, 100 cleared and in a fair state of cultivation, the remainder in fine oak timber. Residence of 8 rooms, frame tobacco barn, frame stable, and good water. Price $3000. This farm is 2½ miles from Duesburg, on Fredonia and Duesburg road.

NOTICE.

We will fill your coal houses in the town of Marion with the best Commercial lump coal from now until the first of September 1895, at 8½ cents per bushel.

DUVALL & HURLEY, COAL DEALERS, Marion, - - Kentucky.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report
Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

The Press.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

ONE YEAR ONE DOLLAR

There were 40,000 deaths from cholera in Pekin during August.

There are seventeen divorce suits on the docket of the Henderson circuit court.

Grover Cleveland has not monopolized all of the backbone in the country. Observe old Wat, will you.

An advance of ten cents an ounce has been made in the price of sterling silverware by twelve of the largest manufacturers.

At Central City, Colorado, thirteen gold miners were drowned by the breaking of a wall that separated them from a pool of water in an old tunnel.

A Washington letter says Mr. Carlisle is disgusted with the situation of affairs in Kentucky. It is not the first time a man ever depreciated his own work.

The Post said from the start that it wouldn't and its possible that all of its kicking is to make its word good. Some people have to kick awfully hard to get anybody to believe them.

Some good is coming out of Nazareth, after all. Just get a copy of the Louisville Times and see how she is hummin' for Hardin and the other splendid fellows on the ticket.

An order intended to protect foreign consumers of American meat, as well as the interests of reputable packers, has been issued by Secretary Morton. It provides that all meat for export shall be inspected; and that horse meat shall be so marked as to indicate that it is such.

The Louisville Post is usurping the functions of the Commercial. If you will observe closely, you will find a merrier twinkle in the Republican's eye when the boy selling the Post reaches him, than when the Commercial retailer makes his rounds. The "independent" Commercial had better look to its laurels.

The country newspapers are loyal to the party. Notwithstanding the fact that a number of them placed the Cleveland construction upon the platform, they are doing yeoman service for Hardin and the ticket. They realize the fact that there are lots of good things in the Democratic party besides the currency question.

Henry Watterson's relation to the Courier-Journal's course in Kentucky politics is explained by the Owensboro Messenger in the following brackets: "But the Courier-Journal (not under the lead of Mr. Watterson, for he has been absent and his pen idle), has seen to the wind and is now on the ragged edge of reaping the whirlwind."

The Hon. Henry Burnett, of Paducah, it is announced, will scratch Hardin, but vote for the rest of the ticket. We are reliably informed there are other men on the ticket who hold the same views as Mr. Hardin on the currency question, and to be consistent Mr. Burnett should scratch them. When a man goes a scratching, he ought to scratch everything in sight. But we verily believe that when the time comes, instead of scratching, Henry Burnett will come to the scratch.

Courier-Journal—Dear Old Lady: Please do say something about Hardin and Bradley, or Hardin or Bradley, in your once famous editorial columns. How do you think Hardin would look with a hirsute covering on his chin like his opponent, or how would Mr. Bradley appear with his beard eliminated? Should Hardin wear a plug hat during the campaign? Would a Mexican sombrero grace the fractions countenance of Bradley? Would it be tasty for both of the gentlemen to wear bloomers, and travel over the State on bicycles? Do either of the gentlemen use tobacco, or is either in the habit of saying grace before meals? Do they wear socks? Do tell, in your editorial columns, something about them. P. S. Which one are you for?

The Benton Tribune is what is commonly denominated a goldbug paper, but there is a silver ring to the following from its bright columns: "The editor of this paper was a delegate from Marshall county to the convention that nominated Mr. Hardin as the standard bearer of the party, and he knew before he was placed at the head of the ticket, what his views were on the money question, and so did every delegate in that convention, and now what is the use for a democrat to be lukewarm in his support of Mr. Hardin, simply because he makes the speech he did at Louisville."

That convention thought he was the strongest man before it for Governor, notwithstanding his views on the currency question, and think so yet, and a democrat who refuses to support him on this account is a very weak brother."

And Col. Bradley declines to meet Gen. Hardin in joint debate again. His action is a big surprise to the rank and file of both parties in the State, and has unquestionably detracted from whatever chances he may have had to win. If the Emancipation crowd was as disreputable as he claims, it embraces no excuse for his refusal to meet his gallant opponent at the other places. He either lost control of his temper at Emancipation or has taken advantage of a very flimsy excuse to run away from the debates. Gen. Hardin has treated him courteously and has met him like the fair man he is. The Republican newspapers have claimed that they were satisfied with the trend of affairs, and the Democrats have certainly had no cause to complain, and why Col. Bradley refuses to stand face to face with Gen. Hardin and discuss the issues of the day, we can only surmise. The discussions have made apparent some facts that should satisfy the most timid Democrats that no mistake was made in putting the banner in Wat Hardin's hand, that the claim of mismanagement, for extravagance, on the part of the party in power in the conduct of State affairs is without foundation, that no State in the Union is being run with greater economy than Kentucky, that no ground whatever has been shown that would commend itself to a thinking man as a necessity for putting the Democrats out of power.

We publish an article from the Covington Commonwealth which shows that the Democratic oyster, the Courier Journal, was once slightly imbued with the silver craze itself. A few days ago, the daily papers published an account of a Methodist preacher over in Tennessee turning infidel, and holding little seances of his own in opposition to the big Methodist revival then in progress. All at once the revolutionist was smitten with paralysis of the tongue, and pretty soon he was at the mourner's bench, and when his voice returned he out shouted the whole camp meeting. The Democratic revival is in progress in this State, the Courier Journal has received the paralytic stroke, and now keep your eye on her, because if the old Star-eyed goddess has not committed the unpardonable sin, you are going to hear some shouting what is shoutin', some of these mornings.

HEW THE TRACK.

Col. Bradley Leaves the Stand and Refuses to Meet Hardin Again.

Eminence, Ky., Aug. 20.—Col. Bradley left the stand in high dudgeon today and refused to speak. This climax was altogether unexpected and created a profound sensation.

At 2 o'clock Mr. Hardin, Mr. Bradley, the presiding officers and a number of prominent Henry county citizens appeared on the platform, which had been erected under a shed at the fair ground. They were greeted enthusiastically by a large crowd.

When the debate began at 2:30 there was considerable disorder in the audience and Col. Bradley could not make himself heard for a considerable time. At last he folded up his manuscript and said he would not attempt to speak. A few minutes later he left the stand, though importuned by those about him to remain and assured by them that order would be maintained.

After Col. Bradley's summary action, Gen. Hardin of course would not speak and the crowd, numbering over 3,000 people, slowly dispersed. Hon. W. C. Owens and Hon. E. H. Taylor, Jr., of Frankfort, who were on the stand, declared that the crowd behaved very nicely, and that it seemed like a baby play for Bradley to make.

Senator Jo McClain, of Trimble county says he never saw better order at a public meeting, and the same view is expressed by Major Norman, Major Henry T. Stanton, Col. W. L. Crabb and hundreds of others.

There was some disorder when Bradley attempted to speak, but not enough, everybody insists, to cause him not to speak. He simply lost his head.

Gen. Hardin did not speak, as a debate must have two sides. He stayed at Eminence tonight, and Col. Bradley went to Louisville. He says he was treated with disrespect. Both go to Covington in the morning.

As Col. Bradley left the stand he said he wished he had a voice strong enough to tell that crowd in what utter contempt he held it. After holding a consultation with his leaders, they announced that Col. Bradley would not meet Gen. Hardin at the other appointments.

At Hot Springs Dr. E. N. Remington and his mother were found dead in their home. The young doctor got no practice, and it is supposed he was so discouraged that he killed his mother and then himself.

Church and Sunday Schools.

Ohio River Association.

The Ohio River Association was held with Friendship church, Livingston county, Aug. 21, 22 and 23. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. C. Hodge, from John 18:37. "My kingdom is not of this world." The sermon was well prepared, delivered in fine spirit, and kindly received by all.

G. N. McGrew was re-elected moderator and J. S. Miller clerk. The letters from the churches show a very favorable comparison with other years, notwithstanding the hard times. The total contributions amount to $6,915.11; last year the total was $4,180.62.

The letters also show an increase in membership from 2934 to 3187; during the year 253 were baptized. Three new churches were received, making a total of 34 churches. All the churches were represented, either by letter or by messenger, except one. The reports show 27 Sunday schools against 20 last year, with an enrollment of 1540 against 1016 last year. 8 are evergreen.

The Association was well attended, and the best department observed. It was indeed a harmonious session. Among the visitors were Dr. W. S. Ryland from Bethel College, J. W. Hammett, representing the Sturgis school, I. M. Wise, A. J. Sells, H. C. Marshall and J. W. Oliver from Little River Association, I. E. Wallace and D. M. Green, from Blood River Association, and many others, all of whom made their presence felt and appreciated by taking an active part in the various discussions.

Sermons were preached by Dr. W. S. Ryland, D. M. Green, I. E. Wallace, I. M. Wise, T. C. Carter, A. J. Sells, H. C. Marshall, J. W. Oliver, C. Hodge, to appreciative audiences. The Association will be held next year with Fredonia church, Caldwell county, beginning Aug. 19.

Let all remember the Sunday School Convention which will be held with Caldwell Springs church on Saturday before and the fifth Sunday in September, 1895. Respectfully, J. S. Miller.

PROGRAMME

Of the Baptist S. S. convention of the Ohio River Association, to be held at Caldwell Springs church the fifth Saturday and Sunday in September, 1895.

Welcome address W. R. Gibbs, response W. I. Clarke.

1. How shall the efficiency of our S. S. be increased—Ford McMurtry.

2. How shall we enlist S. S. scholars in church work.—J. S. Miller and H. F. Green.

3. Is there necessity for local denominational schools.—W. R. Gibbs and W. I. Clarke.

4. What are Baptists to gain by, or from the Kentucky S. S. union, J. P. Pierce, J. T. Wolfe, R. R. Marshall.

5. Should S. S. scholars contribute to missions.—T. C. Carter, H. V. McChesney.

6. What may we expect as a future of the Sunday-schools.—E. B. Black, Cone Taylor.

7. Should the church elect or appoint the officers and teachers of the S. S.—J. T. Wolfe, R. R. Marshall.

8. Should non-professors be appointed as teachers.—J. S. Buckner, W. A. Hayden.

9. Lesson helps, their use and abuse.—J. R. Jackson, Power Wolfe.

NEW SALEM.

Some sickness.

Everybody and his family gone to camp meeting.

W. C. Tyner and wife have returned from Chillicothe.

John Chipp, of Bayou Mills, was the guest of friends in this section Saturday and Sunday.

Tom Woodford cut the first tobacco of the season.

The tobacco crop is fine, although late.

Burglars entered the residence of George Conyer one night last week, but were discovered and put to flight before they secured any of George's cash; George is now prepared for them and woe to the man that comes in reach of his club.

Everett Butler commenced his school at New Salem school house first Monday in September.

Our school house looks all O. K. We do not dread a visit now from our Superintendent.

Mart Belt was before Esq. Harpending last week for a breach of the peace. One dollar, said the court. Amen, said Mart.

Some land trading going on these hot days. George C. Kirk sold his farm to Mr. Nelson, of Christian county; T. L. Waddell to John C. Waddell; Handy P. Brown to T. L. Waddell; Handy Brown has bought the Stokes Dameron farm near Tolu.

Bro. Lowery will commence his protracted meeting at New Salem on Saturday before the 4th Sunday in September.

Farmers need rain badly, so as to prepare their wheat ground.

What will become of the Bluff when...

10. Hindrances to S. S. progress.—J. Wells, J. C. Kingolving and Z. A. Bennett.

S. G. CLARKE, Chmn.

Country Conference.

The quarterly conference of the Marion circuit M. E. church south was held at Marion Saturday, Aug. 31, with Presiding Elder B. F. Orr in the chair, and the following official members present: Rev. J. D. Frazer, N. C. and J. P. Yates, Hodge Murphy, B. E. Martin, A. B. Phipps, local preachers, W. J. Hill exhorter, and M. F. Travis, J. A. C. Piekens, S. D. Hodge, J. D. Bazz, C. F. Nunn, J. T. Terry, W. E. Flannery, R. C. Walker, Henry Love, T. E. Griffith, T. A. Minner, H. B. Phillips, I. H. Wildis, H. F. Ray.

The churches reports the following amounts paid the ministry the last quarter: Marion $81.25; Hillsdale $8.00; Siloam $25.50; Hurricane $52.45; Oakland $11.75; Hebron $5.

The following sums were reported collected for purposes named: Foreign missions $20; domestic missions $16.10; church extension $3.57; education $22.50; Sunday school supplies $11.50; incidental expenses, $27.50.

Upon recommendation of Hurricane church, Jos. Stone was granted license to exhort.

W. D. Haynes and A. C. Moore were added to the board of trustees of the Marion church.

The following persons were elected Sunday school superintendents: R. G. Carty, Harrison; J. W. Love, Siloam; George Layton, Glendale; T. H. Cochran, Marion; Jeff Love, Hebron; J. H. Willis, Oakland.

The old Stewards were re-elected, and at Marion John A. Moore and J. G. Rochester were added.

Hillsdale was selected as the place to hold the next quarterly meeting.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

The Executive Committee of Crittenden county Sunday school work met Saturday Aug. 17, 1895, with full attendance of members.

Meeting was opened by Chairman J. W. Skelton. Plans for work were discussed.

Moved that the County President be asked to arrange for three normal institutes to be held in this county this year.

The following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That Miss Mina Wheeler be cordially solicited to give her earnest co-operation to our County S. S. President, J. B. McNeely, in requesting and urging the teachers of the various common schools of our county to prepare a complete map of the districts in which they teach, on a scale of —, locating as accurately as possible, every residence, school house, church, important road, etc. Also that they prepare a list of every family in the district, giving name, age, and church to which they belong, or denominational preference. Whether attending Sunday school or not and such other information as the Executive committee may require.

We hope to make this the best year for the work. The President and Vice President seem to be in earnest and intend to push the work. We want every Sunday school in the county to run 12 months in the year. [Nell Walker, Co. Secy.

old Billy leaves? George Kinsolving and Henry Bruster spent part of last week in Caldwell county.

Mrs. Lucy Rudolph, of Clarksville Tenn., is the guest of relatives in this section.

Marshall Davis, of Lola, was the guest of friends in this section last week.

Bro. Eli Eaton has returned home from Cave Spring, in Livingston county, where he has been engaged in a protracted meeting of ten days duration.

Bob Threlkeld found on his gate post one morning last week a revolver all loaded and ready for use. Bob don't know whether the fellow got tired of carrying his cannon or wanted to make him a present of a gun.

Lee White and wife, of Sisco's Chapel were the guests of Arch Crosson's family last Sabbath.

A good many of our boys took in the excursion on the steamer John Lowery to Edenville and took in the penn. last Saturday.

Sam Shelby, of Elm Grove, was in this section last week on business.

Sorgho making commences this week and the crop is a daisy.

Joe Pace and family spent last week with friends in Tolu.

Bro. Eaton commenced a protracted meeting at Childers school house first Sunday in Sept.

BAYOU.

Weather cool.

Some of our friends went Smithland Monday.

Mr. Eddie Chipp went to Marion.

TO YOUNG WIVES

WE OFFER A REMEDY WHICH INSURES SAFETY TO LIFE OF MOTHER AND CHILD.

"Mothers' Friend"

ROBS CONFINEMENT OF ITS PAIN, HORROR AND RISK.

"My wife used only two bottles. She was easily and quickly relieved; is now doing splendidly." J. S. Morton, Harlow, N. C.

Sent by express or mail, on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle. Book "TO MOTHERS" mailed free.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Saturday, and will attend school at that place this fall. Eddie is one of our finest boys and we are glad to see him taking such a deep interest in education.

C. L. Nickell arrived here last Saturday; he is one of Livingston's best teachers. It would be well for all teachers to do as he did, canvass the district and urge the patrons to take an interest in the school.

Miss Lucy Newman began her school at Chipp school house today. She is one of Hampton's brightest girls and best teachers.

Mr. John Chipp went to Marion Monday.

Well, John, did you stop at the Clement House?

G. C. Adams is having his new house painted.

G. L. Alston has been in the Berry's Ferry neighborhood during the past week.

Several of our people attended the Catholic barbecue at Berry's Ferry last Thursday, and they report it a failure.

Fruit crop better than it has been for years.

We are very glad that Rev. C. Hodge corrected our mistake in regard to the Grove matter.

We can say that the printer made as well as we did.

CHAPEL HILL.

Mr. Henry Hill, of Eldorado, Ill., is visiting in this vicinity.

Some of our farmers will begin harvesting their tobacco this week.

Orday and Jones of Crayneville were in this vicinity last week buying calves.

John Beard has sold his farm to A. C. Elder.

R. H. Elder has gone into the undertakers business; that is, he has undertaken to sell Jim Hill and Will Belts watermelons.

We hear a good deal of complaint about the Dycensburg road between Crooked Creek and Marion. We should not be surprised if it would not be advisable for the overseer to look after it, as it is said that a stitch in time saves nine; so a little work on that road may save a fine.

Henry Walker is somewhat puny this week.

Mr. B. F. Walker took in a good part of the camp meeting at Hurricane and speaks in the highest terms of praise of the meeting and the good people of that place; he says he has already located a spot on which to build a camp before another meeting rolls round.

Mrs. F. A. Elder is still very poorly.

W. T. Belt will go to Kelsey next week on business.

Hardsculffe.

FREDONIA

Jake Crider has gone to Lexington, Virginia, to attend the military school.

Misses Lucy Hughes and Charline Wilson have returned to the school at Auburn, Ky.

Miss Cora Buckner has returned to the college at Hopkinsville, Ky.

Miss Minnie Love, of Salem, has been visiting relatives in town and community for two or three weeks past.

Henry Hodge and wife, of Marion were in town last week.

Born to the wife of Wm. Koon, August 20, a fine, large boy, the son of his old age.

Magnat at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. G. W. Adamson, Crider, high noon Aug. 28, 1895, Miss Mary Adamson to Mr. Giles Cobb, of Lyon.

Owen Boaz and wife, of Caldwell Springs were in town last week.

Miss Cora Buckner entertained quite a number of her friends Saturday from 8 to 11 p. m.

Fire! Fire!!

Having our insurance adjusted we are now ready and will sell our damaged Queensware and Glassware

At 75 per cent Discount.

We have just received

900 Dozen Mason Fruit Jars,

Quarts and Half Gallons.

Also received

A CAR LOAD OF SALT.

We will still give you 20 pounds of Granulated Sugar for $1.00, 22 pounds of C sugar for $1.00, 4 1/2 pounds of coffee for $1.00.

Water Bucket 10 cts. Molasses per gallon 20 cts. Soda 7 pounds for 25 cts.

Celebrated "Own Brand" baking powder, as good as the Royal, 25 cts a pound. Coal oil 10 cts per gallon.

Everything else in our line will be sold for less than ever before.

Save your peach seed I want them all.

M. SCHWAB.

Most folks would have tried to jump out and turned the horse loose.

Results as adopted by the Fredonia Sunday School September 1, 1895:

1. That in the removal from our midst of R. R. Morgan and K. G. Kinsinger with their families our Sunday school has sustained a serious loss.

2. That we extend our thanks to R. R. Morgan for his faithfulness and interest manifested for the advancement of the Sunday school work for the past fifteen years or more, as our Superintendent.

3. That we extend our thanks to Miss Carrie Morgan for her faithful services as organist for the past several years.

4. That we extend our thanks to each member of the two families for their regular attendance and untiring efforts to build up and prosper the Sunday school work in our community.

5. That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our Sunday school and be sent to Crittenden Press and Princeton Banner for publication, and a copy sent to each of the two families.

J. T. Morgan, T. M. Butler, W. C. Glean, Committee.

Obituary.

Mattie J. Gass was born Aug. 8th, 1873. Professed faith in Christ some time in 1886, but was never connected with any church.

She was married to Charles McMillan in March, 1894, and died Aug. 12, 1895, after a few weeks illness.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gass, and was the delight of the family circle while she was with them.

Mystic indeed to short lived mortals that an Allwise God should call one so kind, beautiful and affectionate a companion from this vile world to try the realities of another world; not she was prepared to meet her God in peace.

She leaves a husband and a little child, with many friends and relatives to mourn their loss. She was kind and affectionate to her husband and loved by all who knew her.

To the beloved husband, mother, and father we say weep not, it is your loss but her eternal gain, in a higher world, where parting shall come no more; where the soothing songs of God's loving angels shall ring through the never ending eternity.

We shall sleep, but not forever; There will be a glorious dawn; We shall meet to part, no never, On the resurrection morn.

From the deepest caves of ocean, From the desert and the plain, From the valley and the mountain Countless throngs shall rise again.

When we see a precious blossom That we tended with such care Rudely taken from our bosom, How our aching hearts despair; Round its little grave we linger Till the sitting sun is low, Feeling all our hopes have perished With the flower we cherished so.

We shall sleep, but not forever, In the lone and silent grave, Blessed be the Lord that taketh his dead from the land of the living. In the bright eternal sky Death can never sever come In his own good time he'll call us From our rest to Home, sweet Home.

R. L. G.

Information given weekly, items covering every phase of current thought, life and research. What would in the newspaper take columns of space, is here condensed in a brief article, giving the essence of the theme with the latest and best information obtainable. The new living topics of current interest the world over are here presented in a form for instant reference.

Valuable for the busy man, for libraries, public and private, for schools, colleges, educational circles, etc.

SAMPLE COPY FREE. PUBLISHED BY The Transatlantic Pub. Co. 65 Fifth Avenue New York.

A Buggy Given Away!

Knowing that crops are good, and that people will have plenty of money, I will give you more goods to the dollar than any other house in this or adjoining counties, and in addition for every cash purchase of $1.00 we will give you a ticket and the one who has the most tickets on Jan. 1, '96, I will give a good, new buggy. No drawing about it.

In addition to the above I will say that I will buy and pay cash for, wheat, dried apples, dried peaches, peach seed green and dried hides, eggs, feathers and wool.

Save your peach seed I want them all.

M. SCHWAB.

Some persons never look over the fence that divides their own little affairs from all creation; and consequently they have not heard of the wonderful cures effected by the new remedy known as Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills (and Pellets). They mark a new era in the cure of sick headaches, biliousness, sour stomach, etc. Ask your druggist about this. You can secure a three weeks treatment for 25 cents, including both the pills and the tonic pellets. Try a free sample!

D. M. White, Marion, Ky.

NOTICE.

All persons owing me on notes, now due, are requested to call and settle without further delay, or they will find the claims in the hands of my attorney.

J. W. Bell.

BARMY'S COAL.

I am agent at Marion for the Barmy's coal, the best coal on the market for the grate, the stove and the forge. Price 11 cents per bushel. The purchaser to take it from the car at Marion. Please come at once as this is for the present only. Car at Clark's mill.

D. M. White, Marion, Ky.

Grand Lodge K. of P.

at Somerset, Ky. On account of the above meeting, the Ohio Valley will make rate of one fare for round trip, on Stop, Stop, Stop.

J. H. MORSE,

Don't Give Your Dried Apples Away!

J. H. MORSE IS GIVING MORE THAN ANY ONE ELSE.

500 BUSHELS OF FIRST CLASS DRIED APPLES WANTED

By the first of September.

COME TO THE CAMERON OLD STAND AND GET MY PRICES ON YOUR FRUIT.

Cameron Stand,

Marion, Ky.

We will not only pay the highest prices for your fruit but we will Sell Your Goods at the Lowest Prices.

OUR SHOES were all bought before the advance and we will give them to you at old prices. 2000 yards of dress goods to close out this month at 4 cents.

1000 yards of worsted to close out at 5c. Our stock of Boots, Jeans and Cotton Flannels can not be beat, and the prices are at the bottom. Big line of the newest styles in clothing just received, don't fail to see it.

The Press.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

LOCAL NEWS.

Dr. T. H. Cossitt, Dentist, Marion.

Dr. Jordan, the dentist, of Marion.

New sorghum at A. F. Griffith's.

FOR SALE.—A Jersey milk cow.

R. C. Walker.

The sick members of W. C. M.

Travis are getting better.

Cotolene, the best lard in the market, at A. F. Griffith's.

Save your peach seed, I want them all.

M. Schwab.

Mr. D. W. Bryant has the job of Janitor at the school house for $17 per month.

Nice line coffins at Boyl's, Salem,

Ky. Metallic cases furnished on short notice. Prices low.

J. D. Boaz has been appointed and qualified as administrator of the estate of the late W. B. Carnahan.

Marriage license has been issued to Charles C. McClure and Miss Ann

Jane Davidson.

All persons indebted to me will save cost by settling their accounts within the next ten days.

R. F. Haynes, Jr.

The party who picked up my um brella in front of W. L. Cruce's residence will please return it to me.

L. W. Cruce.

Save your peach seed, I want them all.

M. Schwab.

Mr. J. W. Adams is attending

Presbytery at Richmond church, in Henderson county, this week. He is the delegate from the Marion church.

The local board of health has very properly began a crusade against the disease breeding places of the town and county. The citizens should help in this work.

A few days ago sheriff Franks took

Bob Slinger's bond for $50. Bob is wanted at circuit court to answer the charge of carrying a pistol.

"Proof of the pudding is chewing the bag." Cochran & Baker have recently sold six wagons and eleven buggies. This proves that their goods and prices suit the people. Come and see.

Wheat drills, Fertilizer and Disc

Harrows, of the very best makes, very, very cheap. A big lot on hand that must be sold. All are good goods. No experiments sold by us.

Pierce & Son.

FOR SALE.—A physician with a good practice in a good locality desires to sell his residence, a pleasant home, and turn over his practice to the right man. For other information call at this office.

Mr. L. S. Rodgers, who has had charge of the keys of the bond house of the distillery at this place, left for home Tuesday and Capt. Gardner, of Morganfield, succeeds him as storekeeper-gauger.

John Sheffer, the garden farmer near town, has brought a fine improved turnip beet to our office. It is not quite as large as some, but it is evidently the best for table purposes

we have ever seen.

Saturday John Riley was thrown from a horse he was riding, and falling on a pile of rocks, he was seriously injured. He was at Otto Nunn's, west of town four miles, when thrown,

and has been unable to go home, as yet.

Marion Graded School opened

Monday under the most favorable circumstances and the prospects are flattering for the success of the school beyond anything ever achieved in the history of Marion's schools.

The corps of teachers are experienced men and women, and their hearts are thoroughly in the work. The entire community is in hearty accord with the school and the best of results are sure to follow.

Mrs. Bailey of Union county, came over a few days ago to visit her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Harris, near Crayneville. Friday she died very suddenly, and the remains were taken back home for burial. She had been an invalid for several years but her death was unexpected.

Crittenden Post will attend the National Encampment at Louisville in a body. Arrangements have been made for quarters for forty men. Yesterday the Post was to hold a meeting for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the trip, but the rain kept a good many of the members away.

Gov. Charles Anderson died at his home in Kuttawa Sunday night. He was founder of the pretty town of Kuttawa, and he did a great work towards building up that section. He was a learned man and one of great energy, and a man of more public spirit never lived in Kentucky. The people of that section loved and revered him, and he was worthy of the adoration of those splendid people.

Road overseer Lee Hughes informs the Press that the John Blue hill, on the Dycusburg road, has been graded from top to bottom and placed in excellent condition, at a cost to the county of only $6.75. This has been an expensive bill to the tax payers, as much as $45 being paid one man at one time to grade it, but it has always heretofore been a dangerous piece of road.

The young people had a gay time at Mr. J. D. Parr's Monday night. Sweet, fresh cider was on the side board for the detection of the guests; the fruits of all kinds were spread out in abundance, and the good humor of the host and kind hospitality of the hostess made it one of the most pleasant socials of the season, and the fifty young people who graced the occasion were never happier in their lives, and never had a better occasion for being happy.

Mr. Charles I. Morgan, who has been with the Marion Roller Mills for several years, left Monday for Fredonia, where he will spend a couple of weeks with friends, and will then go to Henderson to take a job in Dowsy's new mill. Charlie is one of the best mill men in the country; he is steady, industrious and honest, and there are very few things about the make-up of a big mill, from ground floor to roof, that he is not thoroughly acquainted with. The high value placed on him by his old employers speaks in stronger language than we can command of his prowess as a miller.

Summary of business transacted in Marion post office from July 1, 1893 to July 17, 1893:
Amount of stamps sold, $3,501.34
Am't stamps canceled, 2,855.63
No. money orders issued, 2,533
Am't money orders issued, 17,630.56
Am't fees on money orders issued, 158.71
No. of money orders paid, 573
Am't money orders paid, 5,590.95
Am't remitted to Evansville Depository, 12,947.00
No. of registered parcels received and delivered, 862
No. of registered parcels received and dispatched, 658
No. of registered parcels received in transit, 2,932
A. M. Hearin, P. M.

"Incurable." We know that it sounds quackish to talk about the Electropoise curing incurable diseases, but bear in mind the fact that it is the old treatment which has pronounced the case incurable. We do not make the claim that we can cure all so-called incurable diseases, but we do maintain with all earnestness that a case pronounced incurable by your family physician, is a splendid field for the operation of the Electropoise. It may be just the treatment necessary, and is quite likely to be so. If it fails, this is no argument against the "Poise," but in such a case, the fact of the physician's statement is proven to be true. But man's patient who has been given up by his physician who has again received life through treatment of the Electropoise.

VALUABLE BOOK FREE.

ADDRESS

DUBOIS & WEBB,

513 FOURTH AVENUE,

LOUISVILLE, KY.

W. D. Cannon, T. L. M.

Beautiful Girl Dead.

Mrs. Lillian Thomas, the young and beautiful wife of Mr. J. Nick Thomas, of Marion, died shortly before noon yesterday. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. W. Richards, of this city, at whose home the death occurred. She gave birth to a child last week and has been very ill ever since—Hopkinsville New Era.

Mrs. Thomas had many friends here, and they were deeply pained to hear of her demise. The bereaved husband has the sympathy of the people of Marion.

State Certificates.

Messrs. Charles Evans and J. B. Paris and Miss Alice Browning, three teachers of this county, have been granted State certificates—the first that was ever granted to teachers in this county. In this examination the State Board passes upon the papers, an average of 90 per cent. is required and the examination embraces Literature, Algebra, and Physiology, in addition to the common school branches. The certificate is good for eight years anywhere in the State, and may be renewed without further examination. Such certificates serve as a splendid recommendation for teachers and the other teachers of the county should strive to reach that standard.

Letter List.

J. W. Cox, John Campbell, Eugene Elder, Mrs. Sarah L. Fox, Sarah Glover, Miss Etta Guess, Mrs. Malinda Johnson, Miss Bell Jarner, Miss Mable Kirby, Geo. Lamb, Jas. H. Lucas, J. H. Millikin, H. A. Millikin, J. R. Mitchell, Jno. O. Moore, Louisa Robinson, Mrs. M. A. Rushing, Alex. Sneed, John Smith, Mrs. A. D. Travis, J. W. Tush, J. J. Thomas, W. H. Way, Andrew Young.

If the above letters are not called for in 30 days, they will be sent to the dead letter office.

A. M. Hearin, P. M.

Travis' Successor.

Speculation is rife as to the successor of the late county attorney. The law provides that the county judge shall appoint him to serve until the regular election in November, 1896. The Republicans won the office in the last election, and according to the usual order of things that party is entitled to the appointment, but the peculiar situation seems to have complicated matters a little. Mr. A. C. Moore, a brilliant young lawyer, seems to be the only eligible man on the Republican side, and as he is a son of county judge Moore, the latter naturally feels some delicacy in giving him the place, on account of their relationship. Mr. Moore is amply qualified for the place, and would beyond question make the county a splendid officer. We understand a petition is being circulated, without Mr. Moore's consent or knowledge, asking the judge to appoint him.

Dr. Deboe is, as is well known, State senator, and he could not accept the county attorneyship, even if he were disposed, without resigning the office he now holds. The doctor has a natural inclination for politics, and his present office gives him a wider field in that direction than would the county office. It will possibly be some days yet before judge Moore reaches a conclusion in the matter.

Confederate Reunion.

The Confederate Reunion and Basket Picnic will be held at the Fair grounds, Princeton, Ky., on Saturday, Sept. 7, 1895. The change from Harpender's Springs was made on account of the immense crowds coming by rail for which no transportation to the grounds, five miles from town, could be provided. Let every body remember the change.

Gen. S. B. Buckner, Hon. John K. Hendrick, and John C. Gates, Esq., will deliver addresses. Don't forget to bring well filled baskets.

The new Princeton Hotel will be headquarters for all visiting ex-Confederates, and special preparations will be made to care for them. One fare from all points.

Wingate Council No. 35.

All members are requested to attend the regular meeting Monday night, Sept. 9, 1895. Regular election of officers.

W. D. Cannon, T. L. M.

County Attorney Travis Dead.

County Attorney W. C. M. Travis died at his home in Marion Friday night, Aug. 30, after several weeks illness. Surrounded by his family and friends he passed peacefully away. He was conscious to the last, and met death like the true, earnest Christian man he was. He was buried at Belle Mines cemetery Saturday, and the people of that community, where he had lived so long, turned out to pay the last sad tribute of respect to their late pastor, friend and neighbor. Monroe Travis had warm friends wherever he was known. Frank, friendly, generous, amiable, he was without enemies.

Wm. Clemon Monroe Travis was born in Crittenden county Nov. 5, 1842. He was a son of James Harvey Travis, a venerable citizen of the county. He was educated in the public schools of the county and began teaching before he reached his majority, and he was a successful teacher. He read law under the preceptorship of Hon. John W. Blue, and in 1871 was granted license to practice. About twelve years ago he entered the ministry, and was an active and successful worker in that field until last fall, when he was elected county attorney. He then moved to Marion and took up the duties of that office.

Deeds Recorded.

F. M. Jones to John C. Jones, 61 acres for $1030.
Wm. Wilson to W. L. Clark, 5 3/4 acres for $45.
W. L. Clark to Wm C. Hamilton, 5 3/4 acres for $37.50.
W. B. Shaw, trustee, to Julia C. Walker, 44 acres for $200.
Julia C. Walker to L. F. White, 44 acres for $200.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. R. W. Wilson is sick with hay fever.
Mr. John W. Wilson has been sick several days.
Mr. J. W. Wallace moved from Tolu to Marion.
Mrs. M. H. Jones returned from Texas last week.
Mr. W. P. Loyd returned from Missouri Monday.
Mr. Moses Walker, of Blackford, was in town Tuesday.
Mr. A. M. Dunbar, of Dycusburg, was in town Tuesday.
Mr. H. Williams, of Princeton, was in town Tuesday.
Charles Tannehill, of Morganfield, was in town Tuesday.
J. W. Goodloe moved his family to Morganfield Monday.
John Wolfe and wife, of Kelsey, were in town Tuesday.
J. A. Stenbridge, of Uniontown, was in Marion Monday.
Mr. W. B. Oliver, of Caldwell Springs, was in town Friday.

Miss Martha Linley, of Salem, was in town the first of the week.
Mr. Farmer, of Sturgis, is the guest of Myrt. Vickers family.
G. D. Summerville moved to Marion from the Springs Tuesday.
Mrs. W. B. Yandell is visiting friends in Dycusburg this week.

Postmaster Hearin and wife visited friends in Madisonville last week.
Mr. H. O. Hill, of Eldorado, Ill., is visiting his friends in this county.
Miss Hunter Terrill of Blaineville is the guest of Miss Emma Crawford.

Mr. Eb. Sullinger, the handiestest man on Flatlick, was in town Monday.

Mr. Hicks and wife, of Hopkinsville, are guests of R. N. Walker's family.

Save your peach seed, I want them all.

M. Schwab.

Messrs. O. M. James and A. C. Moore were in Smithland Monday on legal affairs.

Miss Della Barnes went to Birds-ville Monday, where she will reside in the future.

Mr. R. P. Morris, of Salem, was in town a few days ago. He thinks of moving to Marion.

Miss Lydia Dowell, of Wellsford, Kansas, will remain here this winter, and attend school.

Mr. N. F. Thurman of Richmond, Mo., is spending a few weeks with relatives in this county.

Mrs. R. L. Moore left Saturday to visit relatives in Texas. She will be gone several weeks.

Mrs. Moore, of Nashville, is visiting relatives in this county. She is a sister of Mrs. Boston.

Ben Rutherford, formerly a citizen of this county, but now a resident of Missouri, was in town Friday.

Dr. W. J. Deboe has been ill several days, not seriously, but he is unable to attend to business.

Messrs. J. M. Davis and Ed. Murray, of Birds-ville, were in town Saturday en route home from Henderson.

Mrs. E. C. Haynes has moved to the residence lately occupied by J. W. Goodloe, opposite the Methodist church.

Miss Lena Woods went to Crider, Caldwell county, Saturday, where she will take charge of a private school.

Wallace Franklin and brother were in town last week to look at the Crider House. They will probably open that hotel this fall.

Miss Emma Bourland, of Madisonville, who has been visiting Miss Nettie Moore, of this place, returned home Friday Miss Nettie accompanying her.

Rev. W. F. Hogard, of Smithland, was in town yesterday. He is in very poor health, and it is said on this account he will not take regular work the coming year.

Messrs. L. H. James, Thos. Yandell and F. E. Robertson will leave today for Hot Springs, Ark., to recuperate a few weeks. The aggregate weight of these excellent gentlemen is now only about 700 lbs. The Press hopes that the restorative properties of the water will restore their health and take them up to their normal weight.

Mrs. T. C. Jameson returned Tuesday, after a months visit to her former home, Colisburg, Ky. Her brother, Mr. Chas. Fowler, and niece Miss Lissa Jenkins, of Elizabeth-town, Ky., accompanied her and will spend some weeks visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jameson.

Mr. Jameson who has also been absent from his post at the depot for some weeks has returned and resumed his duties.

I have 1 seven year old horse, good worker, and 2 mares, 5 and 6 years old, good size and good workers. I want to exchange for new corn. I also have 2 spring wagons and one new top buggy to exchange for new corn.

M. Schwab.

We are the lowest price hardware house in the county. Get our prices before you buy and you will find that we are right.

Pierce & Son.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery, it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Woods & Wilson's drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.

Save your peach seed, I want them all.

M. Schwab.

Lumber for Sale.

I will fill bills to orders for 60c per 100 feet for the next 15 days only.

J. D. King.

Wheat Fertilizer.

Cheaper than ever before, and the best on earth and a big lot of it at

Cochran & Baker.

For a bargain in land and timber, call on Ira Wood, 4 miles north of Marion. He also has 5 head of mules for sale.

1m

Save your peach seed, I want them all.

M. Schwab.

To Our Customers.

We feel it our duty to offer some explanation to you why we are refusing to grind so much of your wheat.

The writer has been in the milling business nearly five years, and he has never saw wheat as a whole in the condition it is in the present fall. Two thirds of the wheat this season was thrashed either wet or damp. Some of you have dried your wheat out by sunning or otherwise, while the great majority of you have let your wheat remain in the condition it was in when you thrashed. The inevitable results are, your wheat is in a condition unfit for milling purposes.

We are convinced from your own evidence that the principal reason why our mill has a custom trade second to none in Southwestern Kentucky, is from the fact we positively will not grind wheat that will make an inferior grade of flour if we know it.

Wheat is like leaf tobacco, you may study it a life time and still you can learn something new about it. The very best of judges get fooled sometimes in their judgement in regard to the condition of wheat.

There are two reasons why we sometimes grind your wheat, and refuse to grind it the second time. The first one is, your wheat is damp, but not too much so to grind, by the time you come to mill the second time it is musty and unfit to grind. Your wheat often has a very light smutty t p on the fuzzy end of the grain, we take it and think at the time it is alright, but after grinding it we find that we were mistaken, so when you come back to our mill with it we refuse to grind it.

Lagrippe, Indigestion, Sleeplessness, Etc.

Yes, indeed, I can say something or the Electropoise. I have possessed it only a few months, but have found it a great relief in indigestion, orpoid liver, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, effects of la grippe, etc. I am 56 years old, and have been a sufferer a long time, and found little or no relief from medicine; but the Poise has worked wonders with me even in so short a time; my health is greatly improved, and I feel like a new man. I am almost young again. Can work now and not get exhausted in a few minutes. I owe it all to the Electropoise. Have also used it in my family, and found it all that it represented it to be. My children all know its value and call for it daily for their many pains, cuts and bruises. I could not part with mine under any circumstances.

L. B. HUBBARD,
Montgomery, Ky.

Mr. G. T. Hughes, of Sullivan, like wise reports good results from the treatment.

DEBOISE & WEBB,
509 Fourth Ave. Louisville, Ky.

Fine Farm For Sale!

308 acres, near Bayou Mills, Livingston county—200 acres in high state of cultivation, and as fine as there is in Southern Kentucky; the remainder is in fine timber. New residence of eight rooms, all in fine shape, fine barns, 600 fruit trees. For terms apply to

CHARLES RAY,
Bayou Mills, Ky.

ROUTE OF THE
CHICAGO AND NASHVILLE LIMITED
THE ONLY
Through Vestibuled Train Service with
Newest and Finest Day Coaches,
Dining Cars and
Sleeping Cars
FROM THE SOUTH
TO THE NORTH
Terre Haute, Indianapolis,
CHICAGO,
Milwaukee, St. Paul,
AND ALL POINTS IN THE
NORTH AND NORTHWEST.

In Poor Health

means so much more than you imagine—serious and fatal diseases result from trifling ailments neglected. Don't play with Nature's greatest gift—health.

Brown's Iron Bitters

It Cures
Dyspepsia, Kidney and Liver
Neuralgia, Troubles,
Constipation, Bad Blood,
Malaria, Nervous ailments
Women's complaints.

Get only the genuine—it has crossed red lines on the wrapper. All others are substitutes. On receipt of two or three of our Fair Views and look-likes, we will send you ten of our beautiful World's Fair Views and look-likes.

BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

CHAT'S PERIL. A Story of Panther Hollow.

Written for the Press by Robert C. Haynes, Author of "Fent's Christmas," Etc.

CHAPTER I. THE OLD WATER MILL.

No other spot in Crittenden—
Or elsewhere, as it was
—was like that old-time watermill.
Or seemed so dear to Chat.
Not that the place was beautiful.
For it was not, although
—'twas once a much frequented place,
But that was years ago.

At that time 'twas the only mill
In Crittenden, and ground
The farmers' corn and wheat and rye
For miles around.

When Chat was but a little boy—
Though well remembered still—
Upon a mule laden with grain,
He'd oft gone there to mill.

He'd watched the pond's wheels go round,
The water splash and roll;
He'd seen the miller take his toll,
The miller take his toll.

By year and year, inventions came
So true, and day and hour,
And steam, the mighty motor, took
The place of water power.

Great steam mills sprang up here and there,
And soon one fact revealed:
The water mill had had its day—
The old mill's doom was sealed.

So at the time of which we write—
November, ninety-four—
The dam was broken, wheels all still—
Silent to run no more.

Unmanned and desolate it stood,
The old mill, grim and high,
Frowned from above, while down below
The creek ran idly by.

The roof and rafters showed decay;
And, through the uncurtained door,
The autumn leaves had drifted in—
Lay heaped upon the floor.

Back from the mill and to the east—
Retreat for rest and swallow,
Where screamed the night-hawk and the owl—
Stretched out—lay Panther Hollow.

Neglected, lonely, unused place;
Few people there would pass;
The weeds grew thick and tall around,
The paths overgrown with grass.

The swine made it their resting place,
And round the dam would wallow;
While birds and beasts of every kind
Came up from Panther Hollow.

Among the few who passed that way—
Quite frequently, at that—
Though 'twas not a mile off now—
Was our young hero, Chat.

He took no grist along with him,
As when he first began
To go that way, for years had passed,
And Chat was now a man.

A little way beyond the mill,
Where oak and maple grew,
Grew great and tall, and birds sang gay,
The miller's cottage stood.

There dwelt within that country home—
True-hearted, brave, yet mild—
A sweet young girl of seventeen,
The miller's only child.

'Twas here that Chat would often go,
He stopped for high water,
Nor storms, nor cold—the truth was plain—
He loved the miller's daughter!

CHAPTER II. THE MILLER'S DAUGHTER.

In all that country, far and wide—
From Mounds to Hurricane—
No one, 'twas said, was more admired
Than pretty Laura Jane.

Young, beautiful, intelligent,
Her school-days scarcely over,
No wonder that had lost his heart,
As others had had before.

Playmates in childhood, friends at school,
Chat scarce could tell—who came?
—When first his heart became enthralled,
When first his love began.

'Laura,' he said to her one day,
"Well I remember still
The very spot where first we met,
'Twas near the water mill."

"You then were but a little girl—
Your age was less than mine—
You'd brought your doll, a fine, large one,
And I, my book and line."

"You'd built a playhouse near the creek;
'Twas spring—a bright, warm day—
So with your flow'rs and dog and doll
You'd gone down there to play."

"I'd brought a bag of wheat to mill;
For it was grinding day."
And while I waited for my turn,
I sauntered down your way."

"I had my bow and arrows too;
But then, boy-like, I deemed myself
A very William Tell."

"You'd laid your doll upon a log;
And, when you'd turned your back,
I aimed an arrow at a frog,
And hit the doll—ker-whack!"

"The doll went flying from the log,
And down into the creek;
While I, in mute astonishment,
Stood, innocent and meek."

"Now don't get angry, please," said I,
"I meant to hit the frog."

CHAPTER IV. JOHN DEE'S STORY.

'Twas Friday at an early hour—
A bright November day—
Chat caught his horse and, mounting him,
Rode rapidly away.

He'd asked not whether he went,
And no one chose to follow.
Supposing that his course would be
Direct toward Panther Hollow.

"We don't need a detective, John,"
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

He'd asked not whether he went,
And no one chose to follow.
Supposing that his course would be
Direct toward Panther Hollow.

"Nor need we a philosopher
To fathom that you see
He wants to be in time for church,"
Responded Johnny Dee.

"Correct, I s'pose, in your surmise,"
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"The night was dark—Fent was alone—
Just he and I and Chat."
There's one thing happened that night,
That gave me fun immense."

"Continued Johnny Dee, "although
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Well, what is it that happened, John,"
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"The sun had just gone down behind
The Western hills," said John,
—but still,
—but still,

"I wished to go round by the Springs,
But Chat refused to follow,
Asserting that our nearest route,
Lay straight through Panther Hollow."

"I did not like to go that route,
But let the case with Fent,
Who soon decided Chat was right,
And so that way we went."

"'Twas dark—there wasn't any moon,
Nor stars to give us light—
I knew 'twould be most difficult
For us to go right."

"I've been through there a hundred
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"I went to Chat to Fent and me,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"I'll take you to the water mill;
If you'll just follow me."

"'Well boys,' said I, 'what shall we do,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Of course we shall," said Chat, just as
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"We'd crossed a stream of water,
If she is there, boys, I'll escort
The miller's pretty daughter."

"That's just what's taking me down
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Said Fent, 'Isn't she a fairy?
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Our talk was interrupted here,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"A huge wild beast came rushing past;
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"The sounds were almost deafening,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Just as they crossed our path in front,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"He came down like a thousand bricks,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"His fall was somewhat broken though,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"And so Fent springing up,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"They barked like Dave Carter's dog,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"They barked like Dave Carter's dog,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"With these words Fent got on his
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Which moved off rather slow;
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"The donkey took offense at this;
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"In fact, 'twas frightened still—
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Fent pulled the reins with all his
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"'Twas him he'd cried out, whoa!
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"My talk about Mazon's ride,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Or that of Paul Revere—
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Or leave them in the rear!
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Though Chat and I, with whip and
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Now dashing onward went,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Through underbrush, over rocky roads,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"We soon lost sight of Fent,
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"Come on! come on! we heard Fent
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

"While still the mule, with fearful
—but still,
—but still,
—but still,

Dyspepsia

Mrs. Judge Peck Tells How
She Was Cured

Sufferers from Dyspepsia should read the following letter from Mrs. H. M. Peck, wife of Judge Peck, a Justice at Tracy, Cal., and a writer connected with the Associated Press:

"By a deep sense of gratitude for the great benefit I have received from the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, I have been led to write the following statement. I have suffered from dyspepsia for many years, and have tried every remedy, but have never seen a great benefit from any of them."

Heart Trouble.
Almost everything I ate would distress me. I tried different treatments and medicines, but failed to realize relief. Two years ago a friend advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle I noticed the improvement. I continued taking it. It did me so much good that I am now a great benefactor from it."

Clerically Recommend It.
I now have an excellent appetite and nothing I eat ever distresses me. It keeps up my strength and health. I cannot praise Hood's Sarsaparilla too much. Mrs. H. M. Peck, Tracy, Cal., writes: "I have seen a great benefit from it."

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures
Dyspepsia, Heart Trouble, and all the ailments of the stomach and bowels. It is a great benefactor from it."

PERPETUAL MOTION PATENTS.
None issued because Working Models Are Required From Inventors.

Max Nordau, in his "Degeneration," mentioning peculiarities frequently manifested by a "degenerate," says:

"He is tormented by doubts, seeks for the basis of all phenomena, especially those whose first causes are completely inaccessible to us, and is unhappy when his inquiries and ruminations lead, as is natural, to no result. He is ever supplying new hypotheses to the place of old ones, inventing metaphysical systems, profound expositions of the riddle of the universe, seekers for the philosopher's stone, the squaring of the circle and perpetual motion. These last three subjects have such a special attraction for him that the patent office at Washington is forced to keep on hand printed replies to the numberless memorials in which patents are constantly demanded for the solution of those chimerical problems."

The Yankee inventor, in his most unique demonstrations of originality, has failed to see sufficient practicality in either the philosopher's stone or the squaring of the circle to tempt him to seek patents for these myths, and Nordau errs in supposing that circulars referring to them have ever been prepared by the patent office authorities. But one intended to suppress the perpetual motion crank has been found necessary, and as it can have come officially to the knowledge of but a small percentage of the public it is here reproduced as a rather interesting illustration of an exceptionally ingenious, emphatic and effective way of dealing with the impracticables.

Max Nordau, in his "Degeneration," mentioning peculiarities frequently manifested by a "degenerate," says:

"He is tormented by doubts, seeks for the basis of all phenomena, especially those whose first causes are completely inaccessible to us, and is unhappy when his inquiries and ruminations lead, as is natural, to no result. He is ever supplying new hypotheses to the place of old ones, inventing metaphysical systems, profound expositions of the riddle of the universe, seekers for the philosopher's stone, the squaring of the circle and perpetual motion. These last three subjects have such a special attraction for him that the patent office at Washington is forced to keep on hand printed replies to the numberless memorials in which patents are constantly demanded for the solution of those chimerical problems."

The Yankee inventor, in his most unique demonstrations of originality, has failed to see sufficient practicality in either the philosopher's stone or the squaring of the circle to tempt him to seek patents for these myths, and Nordau errs in supposing that circulars referring to them have ever been prepared by the patent office authorities. But one intended to suppress the perpetual motion crank has been found necessary, and as it can have come officially to the knowledge of but a small percentage of the public it is here reproduced as a rather interesting illustration of an exceptionally ingenious, emphatic and effective way of dealing with the impracticables.

Max Nordau, in his "Degeneration," mentioning peculiarities frequently manifested by a "degenerate," says:

"He is tormented by doubts, seeks for the basis of all phenomena, especially those whose first causes are completely inaccessible to us, and is unhappy when his inquiries and ruminations lead, as is natural, to no result. He is ever supplying new hypotheses to the place of old ones, inventing metaphysical systems, profound expositions of the riddle of the universe, seekers for the philosopher's stone, the squaring of the circle and perpetual motion. These last three subjects have such a special attraction for him that the patent office at Washington is forced to keep on hand printed replies to the numberless memorials in which patents are constantly demanded for the solution of those chimerical problems."

The Yankee inventor, in his most unique demonstrations of originality, has failed to see sufficient practicality in either the philosopher's stone or the squaring of the circle to tempt him to seek patents for these myths, and Nordau errs in supposing that circulars referring to them have ever been prepared by the patent office authorities. But one intended to suppress the perpetual motion crank has been found necessary, and as it can have come officially to the knowledge of but a small percentage of the public it is here reproduced as a rather interesting illustration of an exceptionally ingenious, emphatic and effective way of dealing with the impracticables.

Max Nordau, in his "Degeneration," mentioning peculiarities frequently manifested by a "degenerate," says:

"He is tormented by doubts, seeks for the basis of all phenomena, especially those whose first causes are completely inaccessible to us, and is unhappy when his inquiries and ruminations lead, as is natural, to no result. He is ever supplying new hypotheses to the place of old ones, inventing metaphysical systems, profound expositions of the riddle of the universe, seekers for the philosopher's stone, the squaring of the circle and perpetual motion. These last three subjects have such a special attraction for him that the patent office at Washington is forced to keep on hand printed replies to the numberless memorials in which patents are constantly demanded for the solution of those chimerical problems."

The Yankee inventor, in his most unique demonstrations of originality, has failed to see sufficient practicality in either the philosopher's stone or the squaring of the circle to tempt him to seek patents for these myths, and Nordau errs in supposing that circulars referring to them have ever been prepared by the patent office authorities. But one intended to suppress the perpetual motion crank has been found necessary, and as it can have come officially to the knowledge of but a small percentage of the public it is here reproduced as a rather interesting illustration of an exceptionally ingenious, emphatic and effective way of dealing with the impracticables.

Max Nordau, in his "Degeneration," mentioning peculiarities frequently manifested by a "degenerate," says:

"He is tormented by doubts, seeks for the basis of all phenomena, especially those whose first causes are completely inaccessible to us, and is unhappy when his inquiries and ruminations lead, as is natural, to no result. He is ever supplying new hypotheses to the place of old ones, inventing metaphysical systems, profound expositions of the riddle of the universe, seekers for the philosopher's stone, the squaring of the circle and perpetual motion. These last three subjects have such a special attraction for him that the patent office at Washington is forced to keep on hand printed replies to the numberless memorials in which patents are constantly demanded for the solution of those chimerical problems."

The Yankee inventor, in his most unique demonstrations of originality, has failed to see sufficient practicality in either the philosopher's stone or the squaring of the circle to tempt him to seek patents for these myths, and Nordau errs in supposing that circulars referring to them have ever been prepared by the patent office authorities. But one intended to suppress the perpetual motion crank has been found necessary, and as it can have come officially to the knowledge of but a small percentage of the public it is here reproduced as a rather interesting illustration of an exceptionally ingenious, emphatic and effective way of dealing with the impracticables.

Max Nordau, in his "Degeneration," mentioning peculiarities frequently manifested by a "degenerate," says:

"He is tormented by doubts, seeks for the basis of all phenomena, especially those whose first causes are completely inaccessible to us, and is unhappy when his inquiries and ruminations lead, as is natural, to no result. He is ever supplying new hypotheses to the place of old ones, inventing metaphysical systems, profound expositions of the riddle of the universe, seekers for the philosopher's stone, the squaring of the circle and perpetual motion. These last three subjects have such a special attraction for him that the patent office at Washington is forced to keep on hand printed replies to the numberless memorials in which patents are constantly demanded for the solution of those chimerical problems."

The Yankee inventor, in his most unique demonstrations of originality, has failed to see sufficient practicality in either the philosopher's stone or the squaring of the circle to tempt him to seek patents for these myths, and Nordau errs in supposing that circulars referring to them have ever been prepared by the patent office authorities. But one intended to suppress the perpetual motion crank has been found necessary, and as it can have come officially to the knowledge of but a small percentage of the public it is here reproduced as a rather interesting illustration of an exceptionally ingenious, emphatic and effective way of dealing with the impracticables.

Max Nordau, in his "Degeneration," mentioning peculiarities frequently manifested by a "degenerate," says:

"He is tormented by doubts, seeks for the basis of all phenomena, especially those whose first causes are completely inaccessible to us, and is unhappy when his inquiries and ruminations lead, as is natural, to no result. He is ever supplying new hypotheses to the place of old ones, inventing metaphysical systems, profound expositions of the riddle of the universe, seekers for the philosopher's stone, the squaring of the circle and perpetual motion. These last three subjects have such a special attraction for him that the patent office at Washington is forced to keep on hand printed replies to the numberless memorials in which patents are constantly demanded for the solution of those chimerical problems."

The Yankee inventor, in his most unique demonstrations of originality, has failed to see sufficient practicality in either the philosopher's stone or the squaring of the circle to tempt him to seek patents for these myths, and Nordau errs in supposing that circulars referring to them have ever been prepared by the patent office authorities. But one intended to suppress the perpetual motion crank has been found necessary, and as it can have come officially to the knowledge of but a small percentage of the public it is here reproduced as a rather interesting illustration of an exceptionally ingenious, emphatic and effective way of dealing with the impracticables.

Max Nordau, in his "Degeneration," mentioning peculiarities frequently manifested by a "degenerate," says:

"He is tormented by doubts, seeks for the basis of all phenomena, especially those whose first causes are completely inaccessible to us, and is unhappy when his inquiries and ruminations lead, as is natural, to no result. He is ever supplying new hypotheses to the place of old ones, inventing metaphysical systems, profound expositions of the riddle of the universe, seekers for the philosopher's stone, the squaring of the circle and perpetual motion. These last three subjects have such a special attraction for him that the patent office at Washington is forced to keep on hand printed replies to the numberless memorials in which patents are constantly demanded for the solution of those chimerical problems."

The Yankee inventor, in his most unique demonstrations of originality, has failed to see sufficient practicality in either the philosopher's stone or the squaring of the circle to tempt him to seek patents for these myths, and Nordau errs in supposing that circulars referring to them have ever been prepared by the patent office authorities. But one intended to suppress the perpetual motion crank has been found necessary, and as it can have come officially to the knowledge of but a small percentage of the public it is here reproduced as a rather interesting illustration of an exceptionally ingenious, emphatic and effective way of dealing with the impracticables.

Max Nordau, in his "Degeneration," mentioning peculiarities frequently manifested by a "degenerate," says:

"He is tormented by doubts, seeks for the basis of all phenomena, especially those whose first causes are completely inaccessible to us, and is unhappy when his inquiries and ruminations lead, as is natural, to no result. He is ever supplying new hypotheses to the place of old ones, inventing metaphysical systems, profound expositions of the riddle of the universe, seekers for the philosopher's stone, the squaring of the circle and perpetual motion. These last three subjects have such a special attraction for him that the patent office at Washington is forced to keep on hand printed replies to the numberless memorials in which patents are constantly demanded for the solution of those chimerical problems."

The Yankee inventor, in his most unique demonstrations of originality, has failed to see sufficient practicality in either the philosopher's stone or the squaring of the circle to tempt him to seek patents for these myths, and Nordau errs in supposing that circulars referring to them have ever been prepared by the patent office authorities. But one intended to suppress the perpetual motion crank has been found necessary, and as it can have come officially to the knowledge of but a small percentage of the public it is here reproduced as a rather interesting illustration of an exceptionally ingenious, emphatic and effective way of dealing with the impracticables.

Max Nordau, in his "Degeneration," mentioning peculiarities frequently manifested by a "degenerate," says:

"He is tormented by doubts, seeks for the basis of all phenomena, especially those whose first causes are completely inaccessible to us, and is unhappy when his inquiries and ruminations lead, as is natural, to no result. He is ever supplying new hypotheses to the place of old ones, inventing metaphysical systems, profound expositions of the riddle of the universe, seekers for the philosopher's stone, the squaring of the circle and perpetual motion. These last three subjects have such a special attraction for him that the patent office at Washington is forced to keep on hand printed replies to the numberless memorials in which patents are constantly demanded for the solution of those chimerical problems."

The Yankee inventor, in his most unique demonstrations of originality, has failed to see sufficient practicality in either the philosopher's stone or the squaring of the circle to tempt him to seek patents for these myths, and Nordau errs in supposing that circulars referring to them have ever been prepared by the patent office authorities. But one intended to suppress the perpetual motion crank has been found necessary, and as it can have come officially to the knowledge of but a small percentage of the public it is here reproduced as a rather interesting illustration of an exceptionally ingenious, emphatic and effective way of dealing with the impracticables.

Max Nordau, in his "Degeneration," mentioning peculiarities frequently manifested by a "degenerate," says:

"He is tormented by doubts, seeks for the basis of all phenomena, especially those whose first causes are completely inaccessible to us, and is unhappy when his inquiries and ruminations lead, as is natural, to no result. He is ever supplying new hypotheses to the place of old ones, inventing metaphysical systems, profound expositions of the riddle of the universe, seekers for the philosopher's stone, the squaring of the circle and perpetual motion. These last three subjects have such a special attraction for him that the patent office at Washington is forced to keep on hand printed replies to the numberless memorials in which patents are constantly demanded for the solution of those chimerical problems."

The Yankee inventor, in his most unique demonstrations of originality, has failed to see sufficient practicality in either the philosopher's stone or the squaring of the circle to tempt him to seek patents for these myths, and Nordau errs in supposing that circulars referring to them have ever been prepared by the patent office authorities. But one intended to suppress the perpetual motion crank has been found necessary, and as it can have come officially to the knowledge of but a small percentage of the public it is here reproduced as a rather interesting illustration of an exceptionally ingenious, emphatic and effective way of dealing with the impracticables.

Max Nordau, in his "Degeneration," mentioning peculiarities frequently manifested by a "degenerate," says:

Constipation & Biliousness

Sick-headache, Pains in the back, Sallow complexion, Loss of appetite and Exhaustion.

There is only one cure, which is

RAMON'S LIVER PILLS AND TONIC PELLETS

One Pink Pill touches the liver and removes the bile.

One Tonic Pellet nightly, acts as a gentle laxative in keeping the bowels open, restores the digestive organs, tones up the nervous system and makes new rich blood. Complete treatment, two medicines, one price, 25c.

Treatise and sample free at any store. BROWN MED. CO., New York.

Do You Suffer

From indigestion, sour stomach, headache, flatulency, distress after eating?

Or is it a case of lost appetite, want of energy, weakness, debility?

Are you nervous, restless, sleepless, worn out in body and in mind?

Have you pains in the back, hips, side, head, arms, shoulders, chest?

Are you filled with malaria—sallow complexion, coated tongue, night sweats, dry cough, chills and fever?

If any of these troubles are yours, the thing you need is DR. KING'S

ROYAL GERMETUER

In the gentlest and happiest way, and with the greatest certainty known to medical science, GERMETUER removes from the system the symptoms named above, giving strength in place of weakness, joyous health in place of sickness.

There is no other remedy like it, and none that can do its work. And then it is a real pleasure to take it. Little children take it with delight, and it cures like magic. $1.00 per bottle. All druggists.

GERMETUER WILL CURE YOU.

THE BEST is what the People buy the most of. That's Why Hood's Sarsaparilla has the largest sale of ALL MEDICINES.

W. T. Daughtrey, M. D. C., VETERINARY

SURGEON And Dentist.

Located at L. J. Daughtrey's, 3 miles south of Ford's Ferry, will be in Marion county court days and Saturdays. Diseases of all domestic animals scientifically treated. Equine practice a specialty.

GOING EAST.
No. 52. No. 54.
Lv. Henderson.....7:30 a.m. 2:55 p.m.
Ar. Louisville.....1:00 p.m. 8:30 p.m.

GOING WEST.
No. 53. No. 51.
Lv. Louisville.....6:30 p.m. 7:45 a.m.
Ar. Henderson.....12:10 a.m. 1:30 p.m.

H. C. MORDE